

Actions Have Consequences - by Rafi, April 2025

"If you spit in the air, it will land on your face." (Page 519)

This study passage perfectly summarises me as a person, as it portrays the message that your actions have consequences. This is done in a humorous way, which paints an easily recognisable picture of me.

Although this passage is meant to be funny and a little bit immature, I want to say that this isn't the only side of me. Despite not showing it often, I can be a serious and understanding individual. Out of all the study passages, this one stood out from the rest of the mostly boring ones that didn't interest me in the slightest.
